

SOCIETY

SOCIAL CHAT

Christmas with its cheer, bustle, and prevalent atmosphere of good will is with us again, and as usual the society function is emblematic in every possible way of the present spirit. Reds and greens, hollys and evergreens are everywhere, and just now to emphasize the time of festivity comes the fancy dress ball to impart an even more positive aid to the holiday note. The Symphony orchestra has lent its distinctive classic tone of harmony this week and the season altogether will be a memorable happy one.

The Symphony orchestra as yet does not call out the audiences that crowd to see a sensational or comic presentation at the Salt Lake theaters; but always in its stalls and circles and rows of seats are seen people to whom the best in everything appeals; and that this class will yet grow to overtop the proportions of the popular show audiences must be but a question of little time. Well known people filled many of the seats yesterday, the stalls and boxes being occupied by Gov. and Mrs. Cutler, Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Pascom, Mrs. E. Bonnemont, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Scheid, Miss Pearl Van Cott and others, and many parties were seen among the rows of seats.

Mrs. Windsor V. Rice entertained a few friends at cards on Thursday, her guests numbering about 16, and prizes being won by Mrs. Arthur H. S. Bird, Mrs. Karl A. Scheid, Mrs. J. P. McGeath and Mrs. George C. Moore.

Mrs. John Reed was hostess at a small luncheon on Thursday, the affair being the first of a series. Her guests were Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey, Mrs. A. J. Gorman, Mrs. Thomas Marionaux, Mrs. Oscar L. Cox, Mrs. Ira H. Lewis, Mrs. C. E. Richards and Miss Ethel Paul.

The freshmen of the university gave a delightful "moonlight" ball at the museum hall last night, the decorations and many details being carried out in the "moonlight" idea and a large number being present to enjoy the pleasant affair. The patrons were: President and Mrs. J. T. Kingsbury, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Merrill, Dean and Mrs. Byron Cummings, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Ebaugh, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Hartman and Prof. and Mrs. Levi Edgar Young.

The B. of C. E. gave one of the most successful affairs of the season on Thursday night, about 600 being present to enjoy the annual ball.

Several dinners preceded the mask ball at Unity hall on Thursday night, Mr. George Y. Wallace, Jr., and A. E. Holden being among the number.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson entertains this afternoon at a bridge tea, her decorations being in the late autumn flowers, and about 20 being present.

Miss Margaret Harris is also hostess at a tea this afternoon, a number of her young friends being entertained.

One of the truly interesting events of the week was the musical tea given by Mrs. C. E. Allen, the chief feature being a talk upon symphony music by Miss Esther Allen, who has made a special study of this branch of music. It was preparatory to the Symphony Orchestra concert on Friday, of which Miss Allen is a member, and she explained to her guests the different parts played by the instruments in the sweet harmonies.

Among the weddings to take place in the near future are those of Miss Myrtle E. Wetherbee and M. E. Hamilton; and Miss May Bush and Arthur Norris.

Louise Clement Jones of this city and Charles A. Hendry of Ogden were RICH CALIFORNIAN AND DAUGHTER WHO IS NO LONGER HER SISTER-IN-LAW.

MRS. GLADYS ASH-GILL-GOURAUD

Those who find no good in divorce courts must admit that a tribunal of that kind has straightened out at least one peculiar family tangle. By obtaining her decree of divorce and adding another name to the string she had managed to bear up under, Mrs. Gladys Ash-Gill-Gouraud becomes Mrs. Gladys Ash-Gill-Gouraud and retires with great gladness from the position of sister-in-law to her own mother. The name of her mother and ex-sister-in-law by the way, is considerably hyphenated, due to varied matrimonial experiences. The mother is known as Mrs. Amy Crocker-Ash-Gill-Gouraud. The elder woman paid her son-in-law brother-in-law, the sum of $300,000, it is said, to release the combined daughter and sister-in-law from the matrimonial bonds that made the mixed relationship possible. The elder Mrs. Ash-Gill-Gouraud's father was the late Charles B. Crocker, the California millionaire.

married this week, Rev. C. A. Perkins performing the ceremony, and the bride couple leaving later for a trip to Los Angeles.

You don't really know what's good until you use

Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate

If you will drink Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate with your meals every day for three months, in place of coffee or wishy-washy coffee substitutes, no argument or persuasion will induce you to touch them again. The headaches which you have almost come to consider inevitable and from which you secure only temporary relief by drinking more coffee, will entirely disappear, and instead of arising in the morning feeling nervous and irritable, you will feel fresh and bright. You will have a clear brain and strong muscles. There is no drink so refreshing, strengthening or sustaining as a cup of Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate. It is the original ground chocolate and is vastly superior to the out-of-date cake chocolates. The exclusive Ghirardelli process of preparation effects a thorough blending of the chocolate and sugar, and produces a most delicious flavor while rendering the chocolate easily digestible. It is also the most convenient form of chocolate, as it may be prepared instantly by the mere addition of boiling milk. Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate will also be found superior to cake chocolates for cakes, puddings, candies, fudge, etc., on account of its more convenient form as well as its delicious flavor.

THE LARGER OUTSIDE CITIES

OGDEN.

A very pretty home wedding took place Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hendershot on Twenty-fourth street, when their daughter, Miss Eleanor L.
